DEADLY FUTURE

Council Plan and Budget adopted

MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

This month, Council made two key decisions. Firstly, we are changing the way we mark January 26 out of respect for local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, who have told us that they experience this as a day of sadness, pain and disconnection. Turn to page 5 to learn more about this unanimous Council decision.

Secondly, we finally approved a budget for the 2017-2018 financial year. This budget will see funding for some long awaited projects such as completion of the Wellington Street Bike Lane, a new pocket park in Mollison Street, Abbotsford and the trial of an organic waste project, whilst continuing to deliver a wide range of essential and valued services to the community.

The adopted budget does not include a waste charge and has a strong focus on achieving efficiencies within council operations. On behalf of the council, I want to thank those community members who took the time to make detailed and considered submissions on our budget.

Over winter, Gertrude Street added a new cultural icon recognising the strong and enduring connection of Aboriginal people to the street with Celebration Dreaming, a beautiful new artwork by artist Robert Young on the wall of much loved Charcoal Lane. The story of the mural and Robert's connection to Fitzroy is on page 4.

Our ongoing work to plan for Yarra's future continues with the rewrite of our Planning Scheme. In this issue you'll find details of a proposed new Housing Strategy and an Economic and Employment Strategy. We'll be seeking your feedback on these in the first half of 2018 as we craft a direction to manage growth and protect Yarra's liveability into the future.

Finally, I encourage everyone to vote in favour of marriage equality in the upcoming postal plebiscite. Yarra is a proudly inclusive city and a 'yes' vote is a powerful way to support our LGBTBIQ community members.

Cr Amanda Stone
Mayor

MEASURES TO ADDRESS A CHALLENGING FINANCIAL ENVIRONMENT

Council's Budget and Long Term Financial Strategy are under pressure due to population increases, capital and asset renewal needs, the State Government Rate Cap, debt management requirements and increasing costs of providing services within the constraints of shrinking grants and financial assistance from State and Federal Government.

To address these challenges, we will be undertaking a range of measures including: continuing to achieve operating efficiencies through a review of management staffing levels and corporate structures, further shared services and procurement, reducing the use and cost of external consultants including legal services, more effective debtor management strategies, attracting more external grants, reducing Council's passenger fleet reliance and other measures.

We will also deliver a comprehensive Property Management Strategy with targets to increase revenue from Council-owned buildings, and look at how we manage Council assets that are surplus to our needs.

NO WASTE SERVICE CHARGE

We will not be introducing a separate waste services charge in 2017/18, after initially proposing to do so in a previous version of the budget. Instead we will be undertaking a range of efficiency measures (see more above).

Artist Robert Young discusses his new mural with the Mayor, Cr Amanda Stone.

PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE

Exploring the different eras represented in artist Robert Young's latest work.

PAST

The eight central figures pay tribute to past Aboriginal leaders and organisations based in Gertrude Street. Young notes that the "water at their feet represents their wealth of knowledge, wisdom and their spirit that continues to flow down through generations."

PRESENT

Young explains that the tree to the right of the mural "symbolises the spiritual and cultural connection to country that Aboriginal people have today. It also reflects interconnectedness, networking, kinships, creativity and continual growth."

FUTURE

The mural also envisions a vibrant future for the local Aboriginal community. "Bunjil the eagle is acknowledged by the Wurundjeri Tribe as a creator spirit. Here he is depicted creating a future for our next generations."

CELEBRATION DREAMING IN FITZROY

Artist Robert Young has transformed a Fitzroy wall into a spectacular tribute to the past, present and future of the local Aboriginal community. Dubbed 'Celebration Dreaming', the mural was completed in July with the help of noted street artists Heesco and Makatron.

Celebration Dreaming is located on the side of Charcoal Lane at 136 Gertrude Street, Fitzroy. Young has a deeply personal connection to the area.

"My great, great grandparents were the first Aboriginal people to live on Gertrude Street in Fitzroy, setting up the first church for local Aboriginal people in their home.

“ My grandfather and grandmother created one of the first Aboriginal legal services in Australia here in Fitzroy. ”

"And my Mum worked as a dental nurse on the dental bus run by the Victorian Aboriginal Health Service which was originally based where Charcoal Lane is now."

An acclaimed social enterprise and fine dining restaurant, Charcoal Lane is helping Aboriginal people (and other young people) gain hospitality qualifications.

Young sees the mural as "an opportunity to celebrate our culture and share it with the local community, so they too can be part of that story."

The mural, which is also intended to discourage graffiti in the area, was made possible through the support of Charcoal Lane and Yarra Council, and with funding from the Victorian Government's Community Crime Prevention Program.

SEEKING A MORE INCLUSIVE NATIONAL DAY

Council has a strong relationship with our local Aboriginal community. Our decision was informed by discussions with this community and our Aboriginal Advisory Group over many years, as well as specific research undertaken with both Aboriginal and non-Aboriginal people earlier this year.

January 26 will still be a public holiday and Yarra residents can spend the day any way they choose. We encourage people to reflect on what this day represents for our Aboriginal communities.

As Australians, we have a lot to celebrate and be proud of. We believe to have a truly inclusive national celebration, we need to find a day which includes, honours and celebrates our Aboriginal community.

For more on the rich and enduring culture of Yarra's Aboriginal community visit www.aboriginalhistoryofyarra.com.au or call 9205 5555.

Yarra Council has decided to no longer recognise January 26 as an appropriate date for our national celebration.

We made this decision out of respect for local Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples, who have told us overwhelmingly that they experience January 26 as a day of sadness, pain and disconnection.

January 26 commemorates the arrival of the First Fleet and the planting of the Union Flag on Gadigal Country (in Port Jackson). For our Traditional Owners, the Wurundjeri, and the broader Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander community, this marks the beginning of invasion and dispossession.

HYDROTHERAPY POOL TRIAL

A new program being trialled by Yarra Leisure is providing local residents with access to the hydrotherapy pool at Epworth Hospital in Richmond.

The hydrotherapy pool is set at a constant temperature of 34°C, making it suitable for people with a range of therapeutic and rehabilitation needs.

PLANNING AHEAD FOR HOUSING AND JOBS

Yarra Council is developing land-use strategies to maintain the liveability and uniqueness of Yarra and to embrace the economic and employment opportunities of growth.

YARRA PLANNING SCHEME REWRITE

One of the ways that Yarra Council is preparing responsibly for growth is with a major rewrite of our planning scheme, which sets out how land can be used, developed and protected. The rewrite is being partially informed by two documents currently in development: our Housing Strategy and our Economic and Employment Strategy.

The next major phase of community consultation around the Yarra Planning Scheme rewrite will take place in 2018.

As part of developing these strategies, we have been looking at research that tells us how and where Yarra is likely to grow. This research will help us plan ahead for the next 15 years.

The latest projections indicate that demand for new homes and commercial floor space in Yarra will remain high in the years to come.

In 2016 the resident population in Yarra was 91,300 living in 43,939 dwellings. This is an increase of approximately 17,208 residents since 2011.

The number of dwellings in Yarra has been growing at approximately 1,160 dwellings per annum since 2010 with most new dwellings in commercial and mixed use areas, including strategic redevelopment sites. Only 20% of new dwellings were developed in the residential suburbs.

Future population forecasts indicate that Yarra is set to increase by an estimated 29,413 people by 2031. During this same period the forecasted demand for housing from new residents is 13,431 dwellings (Victoria in Future 2016: Population and household projections to 2051).

By 2031 the City of Yarra will be home to a higher proportion of children and teenagers. Mature age people will also form a large share of the population.

Yarra is growing by an average of 1,160 dwellings per year

HOUSING STRATEGY

We often hear from community members concerned about new residential developments in the city. We are preparing a new Housing Strategy to help guide the location of residential development in Yarra. When complete, our new Housing Strategy will help determine the capacity of different areas of our city to accommodate population growth.

Yarra plays a vital role in the economy of Greater Metropolitan Melbourne, comprising 4.3% of Melbourne's economy for 2015. By way of comparison Yarra is just 0.2% of Greater Melbourne's land area and houses 2% of Greater Melbourne's population.

Our economy is diverse and it is continuously evolving and changing. It is becoming increasingly knowledge intensive (health, education, architecture, finance, IT, etc) and service oriented. The number of people working in these fields has increased from around 13,000 in 1996 to 30,000 in 2016.

Yarra's major employment precincts around Gipps Street, Collingwood and Cremorne can support a wide range of businesses and services. Our retail strips (such as Brunswick Street, Fitzroy and Bridge Road, Richmond) are our preferred locations for retail, services and entertainment opportunities.

We will be carefully planning for our two key health precincts: Epworth and St Vincent's, which are also located near retail strips.

Continued high growth in employment is projected for the next 15 years.

Despite the shift away from traditional manufacturing in Yarra, small manufacturers continue to flourish, producing boutique, custom made products that require the input of specialist designers.

Visit www.yarracity.vic.gov.au/planning to learn more about planning in Yarra.

Yarra accounts for 4.3% of Melbourne's economy

ECONOMIC AND EMPLOYMENT STRATEGY

A growing economy can lead to jobs and prosperity, and we need to ensure commercial activity takes place in appropriate locations. Our upcoming Economic and Employment Strategy will help guide our policy response and change in employment and economic activity.

Yarra's knowledge sector workforce has almost tripled in 20 years

BUILT FORM AND HERITAGE

Council is drafting built form frameworks for our activity centres (Swan, Victoria, Brunswick and Smith streets and Bridge Road). This will ensure that any policy directions emerging from the strategy work discussed elsewhere in this article consider neighbourhood context and heritage significance.

MORE THAN A MEAL

Our friendly delivered meals service is helping residents stay in their homes longer, with hundreds of healthy meals being home-delivered across Yarra every week.

From Kashmir chicken, fresh falafels to the old favourite, bangers 'n' mash, our menu is broad and accessible – offering carefully prepared meals for community members needing an extra hand.

Richmond resident Jim Allinson combines the service with meals cooked in his own home. He says delivery worker Kim is always a welcome friendly face. 'I like to help where I can,' she smiles.

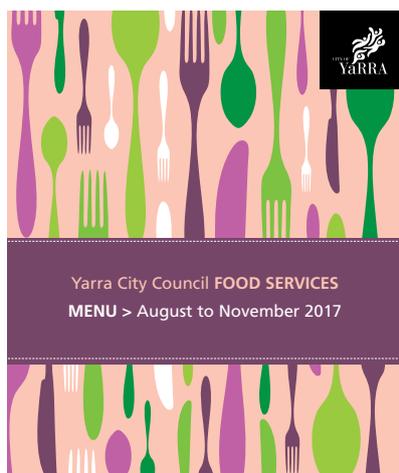

'It's a really good service,' Jim says. 'I order a few meals a week but stay away from the desserts,' he laughs.

Recipients of our delivered meals service can choose their meals from seasonal menus in advance.

We also have meals that are diabetic friendly, culturally appropriate, modified texture and gluten free.

Tasty and nutritious meals are delivered Monday to Friday.

COUNCIL SERVICES RECEIVE TOP MARKS

The community has given top marks to the services provided by Yarra Council according to an independent survey of 1,050 Yarra households.

Our top performing services included rubbish collection (8.7 out of 10), services for families and children (8.7), swimming pools (8.6) and local libraries (8.5), while our most improved services included road maintenance, street trees, and parks and gardens.

The annual survey found that in 2016, the average satisfaction with 29 everyday Council services and facilities to be 7.9, which is categorised as 'excellent'. Yarra's overall performance was higher than the averages for Metropolitan Melbourne and Inner Melbourne.

Yarra's performance was also rated 'good' to 'very good' in the following key categories: responsibility to the environment, consultation and engagement, responsiveness to community needs, maintaining trust and confidence, representation and advocacy, and making decisions in the interests of the community.

VOTE YES FOR MARRIAGE EQUALITY

Yarra Council is encouraging our community to vote 'yes' in the upcoming postal ballot on marriage equality.

Whilst we believe marriage equality can and should be achieved by the Federal Government passing a bill in Parliament, if the ballot proceeds we encourage our community to return a resounding 'yes' vote.

Marriage is about the commitment shared between two people who love each other and want a secure future together. All members of our community, regardless of their sexual preference, should have the right to marry who they love.

Yarra is home to the highest number of same sex couples in Victoria.

LGBTI ELDERS HIT THE DANCE FLOOR

The LGBTI Elders Dance Club is a creative social dance event held at the Fitzroy Town Hall on the first Thursday of each month.

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, and Intersex elders – along with their friends and allies – are invited to attend the monthly social event, held by the artist-run group All The Queen’s Men.

All The Queens Men started the events in mid- 2016 to champion the rights of LGBTI elders.

Organiser, Tristan Meecham, says “Our events are very casual, we start at 5.30pm with food and drinks and then we are guided by the group as to what they want to do.”

The nights usually attract 10 to 50 community members – from absolute beginner dancers to those with more skill.

David Morrison (87) has been attending the group from the beginning.

He says the dance nights, “provide a great social opportunity for any LGBTI elders who are feeling shy.”

All the Queens Men is working towards a special end-of-year spectacular ‘The Coming Back Out Ball’ – taking place on Saturday 7 October.

This exciting cultural event is open to the whole community.
