1 INTRODUCTION

1.1 Overview

This report, the Heidelberg Road Heritage Review 2019, has been prepared by RBA Architects + Conservation Consultants for the City of Yarra.

It provides recommendations and citations for the following three proposed heritage overlays within the Commercial 1 and Commercial 2 Zones along (the south side of) Heidelberg Road between the Merri and Darebin creeks.

- No. 358 – House (Valeema) & Service Centre
- No. 730-734 – Group of 3 shops
- No. 760-764 – A. Cooper Knitting Factory (Former)

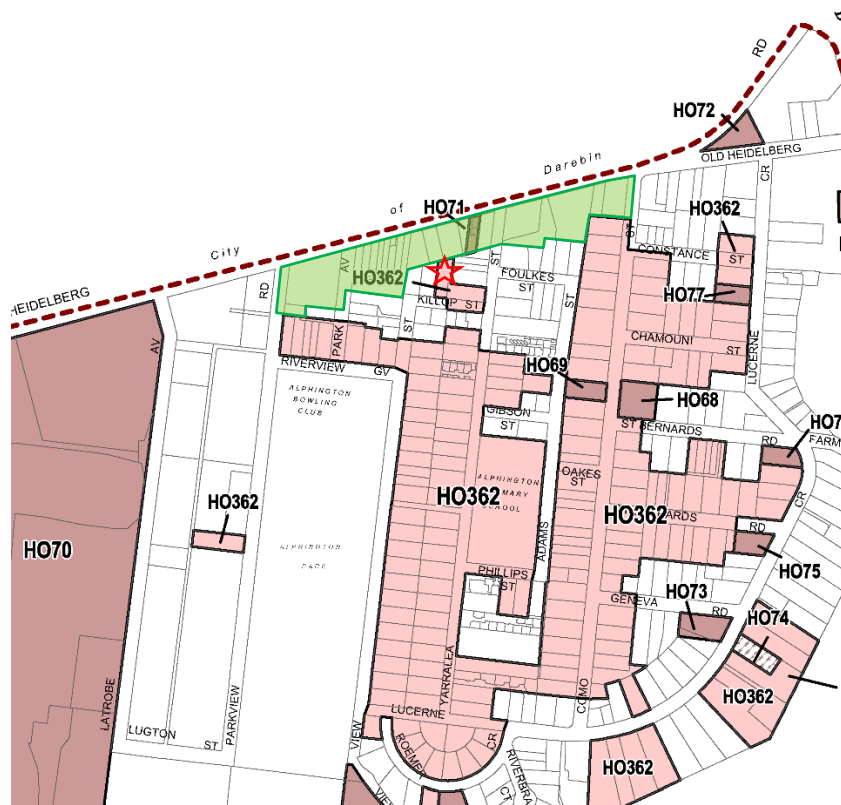

In addition, an overview of the development along Heidelberg Road has been prepared to assist with the preparation of the citations and the attribution of significance.

1.2 Location

The study area primarily relates to the commercial zones along the south side of Heidelberg Road and extends across parts of the suburbs of Fairfield (western part) and Alphington (eastern part).

Map No. 3HO
Existing HO421 (Porta)
Western part of study area (Commercial 1 and 2 Zones) shown in green

Map No. 4HO showing existing HO71 and 2 Killop Street, Alphington (identified with a star, part of HO362)
Eastern part of study area (Commercial 1 and 2 Zones) is shown in green

Existing Listings

There are three sites in the study area listed in the Schedule to the Heritage Overlay:

- HO421 – Porta factory, Heidelberg Road, 224 Heidelberg Road.
- HO70 – Australian Paper Mills Boiler House, 626 Heidelberg Road.
- HO71 – Shops, 756-758 Heidelberg Road – basalt building constructed circa 1860. Existing citation was reviewed in Stage 1.

2 METHODOLOGY

2.1 Introduction

The methodology adopted in undertaking this phase of Heidelberg Road Heritage Review (stage 2) was in accordance with the processes and criteria outlined in the Australia ICOMOS Charter for the Conservation of Places of Cultural Significance, known as the Burra Charter (Australia ICOMOS, 2013). The key tasks included:

- Site inspections - largely limited to a visual assessment of each property from the perimeter.
- Historical research and analysis of the extant fabric in relation to documentary evidence.
- Preparation of a physical description.
- Assessment of the significance of each site based on the research and the extant fabric.
- Preparation of citations (statement of significance, history and description) for those places warranting heritage protection, with reference to the relevant HERCON criteria.

2.2 Research

A combination of primary and secondary sources were consulted as follows.

Primary sources were mainly employed and have included:

- Photographs, including aerial photographs, held by:
 - Landata (aerial),
 - Darebin Archives,
 - National Archives of Australia (NAA),
 - State Library of Victoria (SLV),
 - University of Melbourne (aerial).
- Drainage plans (Yarra Valley Water),
- Melbourne Metropolitan Board of Works (MMBW) Plans, held by the State Library Victoria,
- Sands & McDougall's street directories,
- Plans (SLV, etc),
- Various newspapers (Age, Argus, Herald, etc.).

2.3 Citations

A citation was prepared for 3 individual buildings, or groups of buildings, of potential significance within the study area.

Within the citations the following are provided:

- Name (usually relating to the original owners or purpose),
- Address,
- History – including date of construction and period (Federation, Interwar, Post WWII),
- Description – including assessment of condition and intactness (poor, fair, good),
- Comparative – examples of similar places,
- Relevant HERCON Criteria,
- Recommendation.

2.4 Assessment of Significance

Each statement of significance is provided in the recognised, three part format of:

- What is significant?
- How is it significant?
- Why is it significant?

Burra Charter

For heritage professionals generally in Australia dealing with post-contact cultural heritage, the process outlined in the Burra Charter underpins the approach to heritage assessment and conservation adopted by the authors of this report.

The methodology adopted in the assessment of the significance (or heritage values) has been in accordance with the process outlined in the Burra Charter (or The Australia ICOMOS Charter for Places of Cultural Significance). As outlined in the Burra Charter, the criteria considered include aesthetic (including architectural), historical, scientific (or technical), social and spiritual values. These values have been translated into the HERCON Criteria, discussed below.

2.5 Applying the Heritage Overlay

'Applying the Heritage Overlay' August 2018 (Planning Practice Note 1) provides guidance about the use of the Heritage Overlay, including the following:

- What places should be included in the Heritage Overlay?
- What are recognised heritage criteria?
- Writing statements of significance.

The practice note indicates that the HERCON criteria are to be employed when assessing heritage significance.

HERCON Criteria

These widely used criteria were adopted at the 1998 Conference on Heritage (HERCON) and are based on the earlier, and much used, Australian Heritage Commission (now Australian Heritage Council, AHC) criteria for the Register of the National Estate (RNE).

The HERCON criteria are essentially a rationalised (more user-friendly) version of the AHC Criteria (which included different sub-criteria for cultural or natural heritage). It is also noted in the aforementioned practice note that 'The adoption of the above criteria does not diminish heritage assessment work undertaken before 2012 using older versions of criteria.' Reference to the relevant HERCON criteria is outlined at the end of the data sheets. The definition of these criteria are outlined in the following table.

Criterion	Definition
A	Importance to the course, or pattern, of our cultural or natural history (historical significance).
B	Possession of uncommon, rare or endangered aspects of our cultural or natural history (rarity).
C	Potential to yield information that will contribute to an understanding of our cultural or natural history (research potential)
D	Importance in demonstrating the principal characteristics of a class of cultural or natural places or environments (representativeness)
E	Importance in exhibiting particular aesthetic characteristics (aesthetic significance).
F	Importance in demonstrating a high degree of creative or technical achievement at a particular period (technical significance).
G	Strong or special association with a particular community or cultural group for social, cultural or

	spiritual reasons. This includes the significance of a place to Indigenous peoples as part of their continuing and developing cultural traditions (social significance)
H	Special association with the life or works of a person, or group of persons, of importance in our history (associative significance).

3 STUDY AREA – Overview of Development

3.1 Introduction

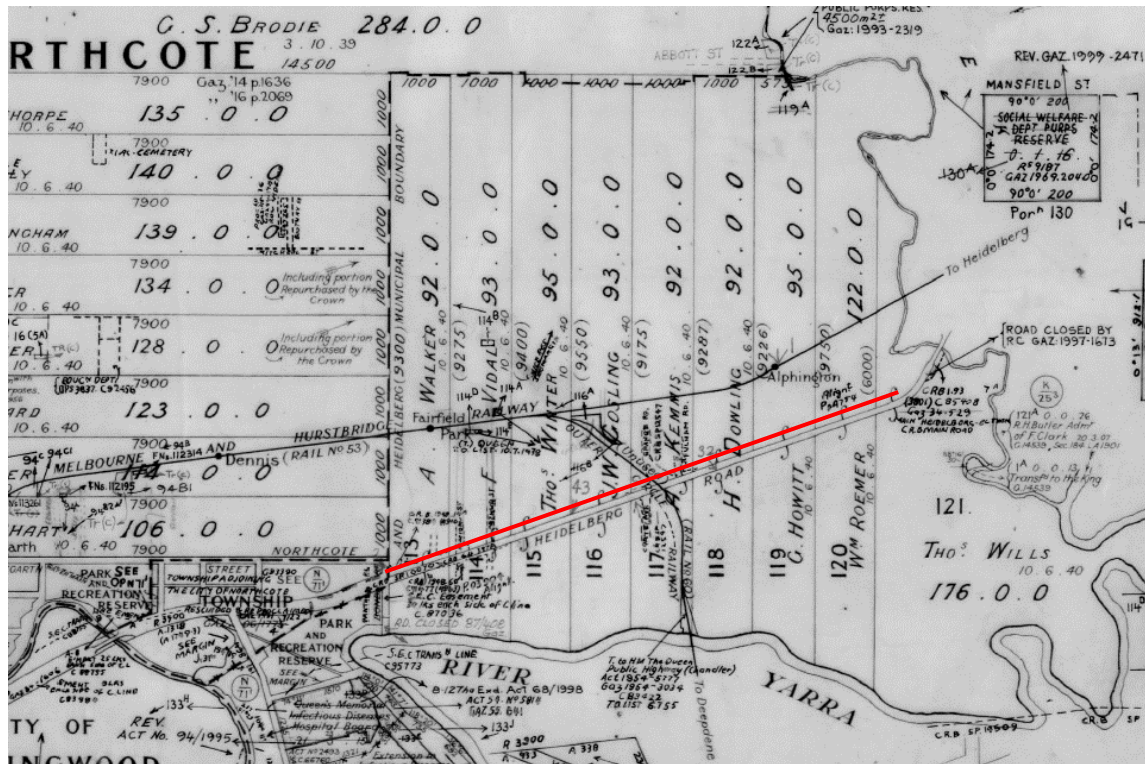

Heidelberg Road has a distinct history as it was established as a major thoroughfare early in Melbourne's history and has accommodated some industrial activity in an otherwise largely residential/suburban part of Melbourne.

This preliminary overview of development of the relevant part of Heidelberg Road has been prepared given the lack of specific detail regarding it in the Thematic History (Allom Lovell & Associates, City of Yarra Heritage Review, vol. 1, 1998). This is partly due to the study area being located on the periphery of the municipality, and over the last 150 years of European development, Heidelberg Road has typically formed the barrier between municipalities, such that its history has been traditionally fragmented by this artificial division.

3.2 Historical Overview

The study area along Heidelberg Road is located in what was the Parish of Jika Jika. During the 1840s the land was initially divided into a series of large but generally narrow (about 90-100 acres) Crown allotments with frontages to the Yarra River or Darebin Creek. The rich soil, topography of the land, and close proximity to the Yarra River was considered desirable.¹ The area includes sections of what is now Fairfield, Alphington and Northcote.

Heidelberg Road was developed along the line of an earlier track leading to Heidelberg via a crossing point on the Darebin Creek (now Alphington). The Heidelberg area attracted wealthy settlers from the late 1830s. Despite the road being well used by those travelling to and from Heidelberg, development along the road (in today's Alphington and Fairfield region) was initially slow.²

Alphington Village was established by William Montagu Manning (Solicitor General of Sydney) who acquired Charles William Roemer's original Crown Allotment 120 in 1852 and, seeing potential for a resting place on the way to Heidelberg, subdivided the land into 130 lots of varying sizes, including provision for shops on both sides of Heidelberg Road.³ The allotments were distributed around a north-south access road called Yarra Street (now Yarralea Street) which extended towards the Darebin Creek.⁴

From 1853, lots from the 'Alphington Estate' were offered for sale.⁵ The land was slow to sell however, with only 16 sales by the end of 1856.⁶ Amongst the earliest buildings in Alphington were a general store with post office, a bakery, and at least two hotels.⁷ The former butcher shop at 756-8 Heidelberg Road was built circa 1860 and is the oldest surviving commercial building of the original Alphington Village. The Wesleyan Chapel constructed circa 1859 on the north side of Heidelberg Road also remains. (City of Darebin)

While the Fairfield-Alphington area remained sparsely settled it was not unproductive and local farms were able to provide local produce to travellers passing through the area.⁸ 'Fulham Grange' was an early farm and nursery located halfway between Fairfield and Alphington and along the Yarra River. Established in 1849 by Richard Perry, the portion of land consisted of 75 acres on the north side of Heidelberg Road and 25 acres of land on the south side of the Heidelberg Road, which was bound by the Yarra River.⁹ Fulham Grange was captured by painter Eugene von Guerard in 1855 and depicted the untamed bush and 'real Australian trees... with a degree of care and accuracy of scientific value.'¹⁰ A farmhouse, vegetable garden, vineyard, carriage and birdhouse are evident in von Guerard's painting '...a pocket of cultivation nestled cosily in the bush.'¹¹

The land boom of the 1880s saw prominent land speculators Charles Henry James and Percy Dobson acquire large sections of land along Heidelberg Road, and large housing estates were established in the Fairfield-Alphington area. Many of the estates were created from early farms lining the Yarra River such as Fulham Grange.

James and Dobson were responsible for housing estates such as Fulham Grange Estate, Fairfield Park and St James Park. 95 allotments in the Fulham Grange Estate were auctioned as early as March 1883 at a 'most successful sale' held by Gemmell, Tuckett and Co.¹³

In April of that year, further allotments in the Fulham Grange Estate with frontages to the Yarra River were advertised and catered to affluent buyers.

'To Gentlemen Seeking Suitable Land for the Erection of Villa Residences, Speculators, Builders, and Others.
Fulham Grange Estate. Heidelberg Road. Perry's Nurseries.
... All that valuable block of land, situated on the Heidelberg-road, and known as the Fulham Grange Estate,
being that portion of the estate having frontages to the River Yarra'

'Subdivided into 75 full sized building allotments... being only about four miles from the City of Melbourne, commanding most charming and lovely views as far as the eye can reach.'

'The whole of this land had been in a high state of cultivation for a great many years. Sections of land sold at £100 per acre were planted with ornamental trees and shrubs as well as fruit trees of every description... within a very short distance of the Clifton-hill omnibuses and equal distance from the Alphington and Fairfield park railway stations.'

A further 47 allotments in the Fulham Grange Estate Extension No. 3 were auctioned in September 1884.¹⁴ 30 of those allotments were located along the newly named Grange Road and Fulham Road. In September 1885 'valuable village sites' fronting Heidelberg Road were advertised.¹⁵

Many of the housing estates in the Fairfield-Alphington area were viewed as being largely remote. Despite auction notices advertising the convenience of the nearby Alphington and Fairfield park railway stations along Heidelberg Road, the stations were not officially opened until 1888.¹⁶ The opening of the Fulham Grange Railway Station in March 1891, near the intersection of Grange Road and Heidelberg Road, was a failed attempt to improve public transport in the area as the route was closed two years later.¹⁷ Despite the establishment of street facing allotments along Heidelberg Road, many of those allotments about Grange Road, remained undeveloped and vacant.¹⁸

In 1885 a large section of the Lucerne Estate, east of Alphington Village, was sold at auction. The estate formed part of Crown portion 121 purchased by Thomas Wills in 1840 who had erected a bluestone mansion called ‘Lucerne’ (demolished in 1962).¹⁹

In 1887 ‘58 splendid villa sites’ were advertised in the auction notice for Knockando Estate, south of the Alphington Village. At that stage the village was well established, catering to travellers as well as local residents. The village consisted of several small shops including a baker, butcher, Mr. Killop’s store, Oakes store, small cottages and residences. There was also a police station, post office, Alphington Hotel and the Wesleyan Church.

The Alphington East Residential Precinct (HO362) captures this early phase of residential development and is described as ‘a residential enclave physically contained by the early transport route of Heidelberg Road and the natural barrier of the Yarra River that includes Victorian, Federation and Interwar houses, with garden allotments.’²⁰ A number of notable artists resided in the area during the early 20th century, such as William Frater (56 Lucerne Crescent - now demolished) and William McInnes (54 Lucerne Crescent).

Several institutional buildings were constructed at the west end of Heidelberg Road (Fairfield) during the late 19th century such as the Yarra Bend Asylum Lodge and the Infectious Diseases Hospital. The Grand View Hotel (HO36) at 429 Heidelberg Road was constructed in 1888 and by the turn of the century a modest strip of shops had been erected along Heidelberg Road, between the Merri Creek and Austin Street.²¹ This included several grocers, a laundry, dairy, news agent, bootmaker, fruiterer and wood merchants and saw mills.

In 1910 ‘19 splendid business and villa allotments’ in the Alphington Park Estate on the south side of Heidelberg Road were advertised.²² The subdivision centred around Park Avenue and was bound by Riverview Grove to the south. The subdivision consisted of eight business allotments, each with an approximately 50-foot frontage to Heidelberg Road.

By 1914 several buildings in the original Alphington Village had been demolished and new buildings erected.²³ Some buildings such as the former butcher shop remained although additional structures had been constructed to the rear. Small groups of timber houses had been constructed south of the street facing allotments while some lots remained vacant.

Some sections along Heidelberg Road remained largely undeveloped as evident in the following MMBW dated 1914. Allotments directly to the west of the Alphington Village between St Elmo Road (now Latrobe Avenue) and Park Avenue were vacant while some development (four masonry public buildings) had occurred on the north side of Heidelberg Road.²⁴

By 1919 the Fairfield-Alphington region had experienced a steady increase in the number of commercial and residential buildings. The north side of Heidelberg Road consisted of primarily residential buildings while the south side consisted of a combination of primarily small commercial premises, including grocers, cycle builders, a confectioner, and a bootmaker, with some residential buildings.²⁵

During the 1920s a number of businesses related to the motor vehicle industry were being established along Heidelberg Road, e.g. garages, engineers, motor body parts were being built.²⁶ In 1921, there was one motor garage, along Heidelberg Road, located between Parkview Road and Park Avenue.²⁷ By 1923 this had been renamed the G H Underwood Alphington Central Motor Garage.²⁸ By 1926 three motor garages were listed on the north side of Heidelberg Road and two were listed on the south side.²⁹

The following MMBW dated 1931, shows the development along the west end of Heidelberg Road, Fairfield between Panther Place and Grange Road. The south side of the road consisted of typically narrow, rectangular allotments with some larger, vacant lots. The west end by Panther Place was considerably developed and consisted of narrow commercial buildings while the east end by Grange Road was sparsely developed and consisted of residential buildings.

During the mid-1920s/early 1930s a small number of light commercial/manufacturing businesses were constructed along Heidelberg Road. In 1924 knitting manufacturer, F G Stirling was first listed on the south side of Heidelberg Road, close to Bond Street and in 1933 the Elite Knitting Co Pty Ltd was listed in a similar location.³⁰ During the late 1930s there was an increased demand for wool textile manufacturing in a bid to aid in Australia's war effort. In 1935 the Alpha Spinning Mills are listed at 714-716 Heidelberg Road and in 1938 A Cooper, knitting manufacturer is listed at no. 760.

The following aerials dated 1945, show a number of light commercial buildings (a combination of shops and warehouses) had been constructed along parts of Heidelberg Road. Some smaller parcels had been consolidated into larger sites and warehouse buildings constructed.

Some allotments in the former Alphington Village had also been subdivided and narrow buildings constructed while some adjacent sites remained vacant.

By 1956, the concentration of commercial/light industrial sites to the far east and west ends of Heidelberg Road, similar to the current circumstance, had been established. A number of previously vacant sites had been developed with small warehouses, etc.

4 STAGE ONE – PRELIMINARY REVIEW AND BUILT FORM GUIDELINES

4.1 Components

The stage one report related to the following:

- HO71 – review of heritage value and citation,
- Preliminary assessment of places of potential heritage value,
- 2 Killop Street, Alphington.
- Built form review

4.2 HO71

It was confirmed that the basalt building at 756-758 Heidelberg Road (HO71) more than adequately meets threshold for local significance. An updated citation was prepared for HO71 that meets the contemporary standard.

4.3 Places of Potential Heritage Value

Datasheets were prepared for five individual places which were considered to be of potential heritage significance. Details of these five sites are outlined in the following table. Of these, three were considered to have strong potential to meet the threshold for local heritage significance (those at nos 358, 730-734, and 760-764), with the other two (nos 460, 774) less so.

On further discussion with Council, only three have been recommended for further work in Stage 2 and were reviewed in regards to built form analysis and recommended controls.

Address – No. (Heidelberg Rd)	Name	Date/Period	Details
358	House (Valeema) & Tyre Outlet	Late 1950s/Postwar	House – Modernist influence Unusual combination of house and adjoining service centre
460	Duncan Rubber Co. Showroom & Warehouse	1956/Postwar	Sawtooth roof forms Intact facades
730-734	Group of 3 shops	1933/Interwar	Single storey buildings with intact shopfronts
760-764	A. Cooper Knitting Manufacturer	Mid-1930s/Interwar	Single storey building with intact parapet and most original openings
774	Former Ampol Service station	By 1965/Late 20 th century	Stages of construction not certain Original frame (sign) survives

Other Sites Considered

Seven other buildings in the study area which were noted for their potential heritage value and were assessed as not having sufficient potential to reach the threshold for local heritage significance at this time: nos 276, 388, 402, 728, 750-754, and 782 Heidelberg Road.

Of this group, the earlier buildings had been altered to varying degrees, whereas the two late 20th century buildings were largely intact but difficult to assess in regards to other similar building stock in the municipality as there are few, if any, from this time that have been assessed as having heritage value.

4.4 2 Killop Street, Alphington

A review of 2 Killop Street, located in the north end of the Alphington East Precinct Heritage Overlay (HO362), was undertaken.

2 Killop Street is located in one of the small peripheral sections of HO362 that also includes 59 Yarralea Street. The latter is a weatherboard-clad bungalow with a distinctive oblong opening to the porch. The late 20th century house at 2 Killop Street was determined to be an anomaly at the edge of the Alphington East Precinct largely characterised by Victorian, Edwardian and Interwar houses with pitched, gabled or hipped roofs. It varies greatly to the graded building stock in the precinct and it was recommended to be removed from the precinct on this basis.

4.5 Built Form Review

Built form guidelines have been developed for the following five sites, two of which are existing heritage overlays (HO71 + HO421) and three proposed heritage places.

- Porta Factory, 224 Heidelberg Road, Fairfield (HO421).
- House (Valeema) & Service Centre, 358 Heidelberg Road, Fairfield.
- Group of 3 Shops, 730-734 Heidelberg Road, Alphington.
- Former Butcher Shop, 756-758 Heidelberg Road, Alphington (HO71).
- A. Cooper Knitting Factory (Former), 760-764 Heidelberg Road, Alphington.

5 STAGE TWO – CITATIONS FOR PROPOSED HERITAGE OVERLAYS

5.1 Recommendations

Further research and analysis undertaken during 2019 has confirmed that the three proposed heritage overlays warranted recommendation for inclusion in the Schedule to the Heritage Overlay in the Yarra Planning Scheme. The proposed citations for these places are included in the Appendix A.

Address – No. (Heidelberg Rd)	Name	Date/Period	Details
358	House (Valeema) & Service Centre	House – 1955 (east wing), c.1980 (west wing) Service centre – 1955 Postwar	House – Modernist influence Unusual combination of house and adjoining service centre
730-734	Group of 3 shops	c.1922 Interwar	Single storey buildings with intact shopfronts
760-764	A. Cooper Knitting Factory (Former)	1922 Interwar	Single storey buiding with intact parapet and mostly original openings

5.2 Locations

The three proposed heritage overlays are indicated in the maps below-

Statement of Significance

What is Significant?

The two storey house (Valeema) constructed in 1955 (main part/east wing) and circa 1980 (addition/west wing), and the single storey service centre constructed also in 1955, at 358 Heidelberg Road, Fairfield.

Significant aspects of the two storey house include the form of the building, gable roofs (including original glazed tiles), brick walls, steel-framed windows and minimal window to wall ratio. The 'Valeema' name plate and light fittings on the entry porch are contributory elements.

As the brick walls of the building have a bagged/painted finish, it is appropriate to have paint controls so that future colour schemes and finishes are complementary.

Significant aspects of the single storey service centre building include the original parapet, brick walls including the small projection at the north-east corner (with the original street number '358'), original openings, including concrete lintel to the north elevation, glazed timber door and steel-framed windows on the west elevation, and roof-mounted 'Bridgestone' and 'tires' signage. The bowser platforms to the front of the site are contributory elements. The lightweight canopy to the west side is not significant.

How is it Significant?

The House (Valeema) and Service Centre at 358 Heidelberg Road, Fairfield are of local historical and aesthetic significance to the City of Yarra.

Why is it Significant?

The House (Valeema) and Service Centre at 358 Heidelberg Road, Fairfield are of historical significance to the City of Yarra as a long-standing combined commercial and residential site from the late 19th century onwards, that represents a key phase of development during the Post-WWII period. The combined function of house and tyre service centre was established on the site in 1953, operating from two Victorian period buildings on the northern part of the site. During 1955, the whole site was extensively redeveloped whilst retaining the dual function of house and service centre though in two distinct buildings. (Criterion A)

The House (Valeema) and Service Centre are aesthetically significant as an unusual and intact combination of house and service centre that are expressed as two distinct entities and designed in the Postwar period. The design of the house and service centre reflect the Modernist aesthetic and consist of bold yet restrained forms that are enhanced by the prominent corner site. The low-pitched gable roof of the house is indicative of the Melbourne Regional Modernist style, which is uncommon in the municipality. (Criterion E)

Description

The site at 358 Heidelberg Road has three street frontages – Heidelberg Road (north), Panther Place (west) and Park Crescent (south). The house is located at the southern end of the site and the service centre at the north. A high brick fence, painted and with a timber gate, separates the two parts of the site. The prominent corner site overlooks Yarra Bend Park.

The two storey L-shaped house was designed in the Postwar period. It is a substantial house that was built in two stages and consists of the likely architect designed main rectangular, eastern section constructed in 1955, and the subsequent west wing and entry porch constructed circa 1980. The two parts are intact and well integrated as they have been designed in a similar mode but the junction between the two parts is evident to the south elevation.

The entrance to the house fronts Park Crescent, though the building is most visible from Panther Place to the west. A high timber fence has been erected along the south boundary and part way along the west boundary of the site. The south (front) yard and west (side) yard are grassed.

The main part of the house has a bold rectangular form and the west wing is a smaller version of it, both with prominent gabled ends that address the street. The low-pitched gable roofs of the extant house are clad in glazed tiles with minimal eaves overhang. The brick walls have been painted a neutral white colour with a bagged finish, enhancing the bold yet restrained aesthetic of the building.

House - façade, south elevation

House – south elevation, window openings and portico. The junction between the original eastern section and later west wing is evident.

The strong volumetric expression of the building is evident from Park Crescent and Panther Place. The south facing elevation is articulated by a series of rectangular openings (original as well as later additions) that maintain a minimal window to wall ratio pattern across the facades. The windows are typically steel-framed casement windows with a horizontal mullion to the upper section and brick sills. At ground floor is a brick entry porch addition constructed circa 1980 that mirrors the low-pitched slope of the main gable and the bagged finish of the brick walls. The porch features a steel entry grille and light fittings to either side. Above the door is a name plate that reads 'Valeema.'

The west wing presents a blank wall to the street boundary, which heightens the bold form of the building. The addition has been sympathetically designed and maintains the aesthetic evident in the original part of the house.

The upper section of the north facing gable end is visible above the garage from Heidelberg Road and Panther Place. There are vents to the roof space, visible in the upper part of the wall. At each end of the original wing is a narrow slit with a wider vent to the west wing.

Awning blinds have been added to various windows at the north-west corner of the wings.

House – west elevation

Service centre and house beyond – north-west corner from Heidelberg Road. Note 'Bridgestone' signage mounted to parapet.

The single storey service centre building at the front of the site at the intersection of Heidelberg Road and Panther Place was constructed at the end of the Postwar period and its cuboid form also reflects the Modernist aesthetic.

The building has an elongated footprint that is angled to Heidelberg Road but more so than that of the street itself. The front part of the site is paved and there is vehicular access from both roads. There are two concrete platforms, indicating the location of former petrol bowsers, to the front of the site. A brick wall defines the east boundary in front of the garage.

The brick building and parapet have been painted however the original openings and brick detailing is evident beneath. The north elevation has a large garage opening with (rendered) concrete lintel. The upper section of the brick façade features brick courses in a header configuration and a horizontal, shallow recessed panel on the north façade. There are original raised street numbers to the pier at the north-west corner and the small projection at the upper end of the of the service centre building in the north-east corner.

On the west façade of the service centre is an original glazed, timber-framed door and two large multi-paned steel windows. Awning blinds have been added above the openings and a lightweight canopy has been added to the garage opening at the south end.

A large 'Bridgestone' tyres sign has been mounted on the roof of the west side of the building and 'tires' to the east side, the latter being the preferred spelling in the North America. Their date has not been confirmed but the signage may date to the early 1960s as imported Bridgestone tyres were available in Australia from 1961.¹

Three flagpoles have been mounted on the building and are located on the front section of the roof, the north elevation and west elevation.

Service centre – north-east corner elevation
Note 'tires' signage mounted to parapet and small projection with street number (highlighted)

Service centre – west elevation

The house and service centre are indicative of the Modernist aesthetic which evolved from the late-1920s in Europe. The style was adopted internationally, in Australia primarily after WWII with several regional versions of Modernism evolving in various parts of the country.² Elements of the Modernist style include the use of geometric and bold forms and restrained facades with minimal, if any, ornamentation. Roofs concealed by parapets, contrasting angular forms, an emphasis on the horizontal, and the use of large steel-framed windows are typical of the Modernist style.

The design of the house is indicative of what has been identified as the Melbourne Regional version of Modernism which characteristically integrated a low-pitched roof – a broad gable or skillion - a familiar traditional roof form rather than the flat roofs of the International Modernist style.

History

The subject site formed part of Crown portion 113, Parish of Jika Jika, which was comprised of 92 acres purchased by A Walker in 1840.³ It was one of several similarly narrow allotments with frontages to the nearby creeks and the Yarra River.⁴ The rich soil, topography of the land, and close proximity to the Yarra River was considered desirable.⁵ Heidelberg Road was located to the south of the allotments and was developed along the line of an earlier track leading to Heidelberg. The road served as an early transport route for those travelling to and from Heidelberg and includes sections of what is now Fairfield and Alphington.

The land boom of the 1880s saw prominent land speculators Charles Henry James and Percy Dobson acquire large sections of land along Heidelberg Road. In 1883 a large section of Crown portion 113 that included the subject site, was transferred to James and Dobson and the land to the north of Park Crescent was subdivided.⁶ The allotments facing Heidelberg Road were of varying widths and depths. The subject site was located in the north-west corner of the subdivision.

In 1885 land containing the subject site was transferred to salesman, Frederick William Oehr.⁷ Oehr further subdivided the land to form two narrow allotments and in 1886 the western allotment was transferred to grocer, John Dickson.⁸ At that stage the south side of Heidelberg Road remained sparsely developed with only five commercial premises between Bond Street (what is now Panther Place) and Austin Street.⁹ The western allotment was occupied by several grocers during the late 19th and early 20th century including Freeman Bros. (1897-1900), Charles Ponsford (1904 - grocery and hay and corn store), George H Osborne (1912), Edward G Ball (1913) and Walter L Newnham & Co. (1914).

In 1909 buildings with a narrow footprint and a north-west corner verandah are evident on the subject site.¹⁰

In 1909 there were narrow buildings on the subject site. (MMBW Detail Plan 1270, SLV)

In 1919 the two narrow allotments were consolidated to form the extant subject site, which had a 47 foot frontage to Heidelberg Road, 123.5 foot frontage to Panther Place and about a 44 foot frontage to Park Crescent. That year the site was transferred to grocers, Walter Lachlan Newnham and Charles Herbert Fullard, who continued to occupy the site until at least 1923.¹¹ At that stage there were 15 commercial premises on the south side of the road between Panther Place and Arthur Street. This included a blacksmith, saddler, cycle builder and bootshop.¹² During the 1920s the subject site was primarily occupied by grocers and produce dealers.¹³

From the 1920s, several motor vehicle related businesses such as garages, engineers and motor body parts, were being established along Heidelberg Road, being a major thoroughfare.¹⁴ By 1931, the allotments on the south side of Heidelberg Road consisted of light commercial buildings with some vacant lots and Panther Place had been renamed Bond Street. The subject site was occupied by H Stewart, grocer, and thereafter occupied by various produce merchants throughout the 1930s and early 1940s.¹⁵

In 1945 the function of the site shifted from a commercial to residential purpose when it was occupied solely by Mrs E F Chappel, and then Charles H Chappell in 1950.¹⁷

The combination of house and service centre was first established on the site in 1953 when it was purchased by George Bertram Stringer and Harry John King, who had recently become owners of the Lincoln Tyre Service.¹⁸ By 1955 the two independent functions were re-instated at the site when the front part was operating as the Lincoln Tyre Service and the rear house was being occupied by Mrs E Z Chappell.¹⁹

In 1955 the site was however completely redeveloped though henceforth continued to serve the dual function of a house and service centre. In June and July of that year, the Lincoln Tyre Service advertised for a few staff members.²⁰ By August 1955 the earlier structures had been demolished and replaced by the main part of the house and the front section of the service centre, as evident in the Property Sewerage Plan.²¹ Initially there was probably a canopy to the west side of the service centre building.²²

In 1959 the subject site was purchased by tyre dealer, Retford Alexander Cutts who occupied the residence and further developed the site.²³ The site operated as the Lincoln Tyre Service until 1960 at which stage it was listed as Fairfield Tyre Service.²⁴ By 1966 the service centre had been extended south to coincide with the existing footprint.²⁵ The canopy/structure to the west side had been removed and the extant courtyard wall between the service centre and house had been erected.

The main part of the house and service centre (as it stands today) are evident in 1969.²⁶ The south face of the house is blank with the exception of a single window at first floor level. The building has a light and monochromatic colour palette. The front of the site is paved and includes the extant bowser platforms. Cutts occupied the subject site until at least 1974.²⁷

The existing lightweight canopy on the west side of the service centre had been constructed by 1979 while the extant west wing addition and entry porch of the house were constructed after this period.²⁸ The western face of the addition was designed in an aesthetic similar to the original house and remained blank to the street. Windows were likely added to the south face of the main part of the house at this stage.

The service centre currently operates as the Fairfield Alignment & Tyre Service.

Lincoln Tyre Service

Lincoln Tyre Service was established as a Lincoln Retreads P/L in 1933 with £5000 capital and £1 shares being offered. The original directors were John Herbert Rudge and Ian Wischer.²⁹ Their operations relocated over the years, commencing at 430 Riversdale Road Hawthorn, and later moving to 490 Toorak Road, Burwood.³⁰ By 1952, Stringer and King owned the company and had changed the trading name to Lincoln Tyre Service.³¹ The following advertisement, issued soon after the renaming of the company, indicates that they also supplied other garages.

Known comparable places in the City of Yarra

There are no ready comparisons for this combination across the municipality. Postwar buildings with individual overlays built after WWII are primarily ecclesiastical buildings and do not make for ready comparison.

There are no examples of Modernist houses or garages with individual overlays built after WWII as many such buildings are located within precincts whose significance primarily relates to the late 19th century (Victorian), and possibly early 20th century (Federation and/or Interwar) phases of development and so have tended to be graded non-contributory.

- 28-30 Johnston Street, Collingwood (part of HO324, Johnston Street Precinct). Not significant. Constructed in the 1960s-70s, the basic single storey brick building has a central, garage opening.
- 2 St Georges Road, Fitzroy North (part of HO327, North Fitzroy Precinct). Not contributory. Constructed between 1950-1965 the single storey brick motor garage has a rectangular form with a chamfered entrance and large garage openings. The garage has a parapet roof and large over painted, multi-paned steel windows.
- 310 St Georges Road, Fitzroy North (part of HO327, North Fitzroy Precinct). Not contributory. Group of four interlocking, two-storeyed brick units. Each unit has a rectangular form and a hip roof and the north and south walls of each unit remain blank. While the function of the building differs from the subject building, a similar Modernist aesthetic is evident.
- 50 Westbank Terrace, Burnley (part of HO331 Racecourse Precinct, Richmond). Not contributory. Constructed between 1950-1960 the single storey 'neighbourhood house' consists of two gable roofed structures with a blank north wall and minimal openings. While the function of the building differs from the subject building, a similar Modernist aesthetic has been utilised.

Statement of Significance

What is Significant?

The group of three Interwar period shops at 730-734 Heidelberg Road, Alphington, constructed circa 1922.

Significant aspects of the shops include the brick walls and parapets (now painted), hipped roof forms (largely concealed), street canopies including original soffit linings, the configuration of the shopfronts, shopfront joinery and finishes, tiled mouldings to the west end of no. 732, the recessed entrance of no. 730 including floor tiles, mouldings, pressed metal ceiling and toplights with textured glass. In addition, the original side access to no. 730 (now 730A) as it extends to the depth of the front hipped roof of no. 732, where the intact (unpainted) return walls remain visible.

How is it Significant?

The group of three shops at 730-734 Heidelberg Road, Alphington are of local historical and aesthetic significance to the City of Yarra.

Why is it Significant?

The group of three shops at 730-734 Heidelberg Road, Alphington are of historical significance to the City of Yarra as one of the few remnant intact buildings that denote the Interwar period phase of development in this part of Heidelberg Road area (Alphington Village) during the early 1920s, when building activity increased, including much redevelopment, and the area's commercial function was consolidated. Whilst no. 734 was not purpose built as a post office, it has functioned as such for about half a century. (Criterion A)

The group of three shops are aesthetically significant as an intact group of single-storey, brick Interwar period commercial buildings. Whilst modest in scale, they retain their original parapets and unusually their original shopfronts, two of which were manufactured by Duff (nos 732-734), with the other (no. 730) being notable for intact canopy, the copper finish to its framing and green tiles to the stallboard. (Criterion E)

Description

The group of three shops at nos 730-734 Heidelberg Road were constructed during the Interwar period. The shops are located in a commercial strip on the south side of Heidelberg Road between Park Avenue and Yarralea Street, and are each situated on a narrow allotment. No. 730 is separated from nos 732-734 by a narrow side access (part of no. 730A). The shops are single-storied and feature original parapets and shopfronts.

The subject shops are typical of the Interwar period and feature relatively plain parapets with little ornamentation and street canopies. The brick shop at no. 730 has a symmetrical façade and is the most elaborate of the three shops. The shop has a stepped brick parapet (overpainted) that conceals a metal clad hipped roof and features a square pediment and capped brick piers at either end. The east parapet return has been retained and the original red brick wall is evident. The combination of face brick to the parapet section and render to the lower section was common during the Interwar period.

The shopfront is highly intact and retains the original configuration and finishes which are indicative of the Interwar period. This consists of the recessed entry, floor tiles with pressed metal ceiling above, dark green wall tiles and mouldings to the stallboard, copper-finish shopfronts, and framing with highlights (often overpainted). The toplight windows have textured/patterned glass which is also indicative of the Interwar period. The canopy is clad in corrugated metal sheeting and has a plaster board lined soffit with thin metal battens and a small 'Post Office' sign mounted on the lower edge of the fascia.

Nos 730-734 Heidelberg Road

730 Heidelberg Road – parapet and shopfront

No. 730 Heidelberg Road – typical Interwar shopfront configuration

No. 730 Heidelberg Road – recessed entry including original tiles and pressed metal ceiling

Nos 732-734 are a pair of brick shops with a plain brick parapet (overpainted) that conceals two hipped roofs clad with corrugated sheeting. The west parapet return of no. 732 has been retained and the original red brick wall is evident. The east (side) brick wall of no. 734 has been painted.

The street facades are identical and for the most part retain original shopfronts. The badge of the manufacturer (Duff) survives on each shopfront however the framing has been painted on no. 732. Tiled mouldings to the west end of no. 732 also survive. The configuration of the shopfronts and detailing of the parapet is typical of the Interwar period and despite having been painted, are intact. The canopies have been slightly modified however the original metal corrugated lined soffit no. 732 remains.

Nos 732-734 Heidelberg Road - shopfronts

No. 734 Heidelberg Road – original badge of manufacturer (Duff)

The original side access (no.730A) extends the depth of the hipped roof of no. 732. This separation provides visibility of the intact side parapets of nos. 730 and 732. The front brick wall and door have more recently been added to the laneway and are not significant. To the rear of no.730A is a narrow outbuilding and a small shed (not inspected, evident from aerial). To the rear of no. 732 is a narrow outbuilding which appears in a 1922 sewerage plan of the site and is possibly original. To the rear of this is a detached timber shed which appears in a 1945 aerial.

History

The subject site formed part of Crown Portion 119, Parish of Jika Jika, which comprised of 95 acres purchased by G Howitt in 1840.¹ It was one of several similarly narrow allotments with frontages to the nearby creeks and the Yarra River.² The rich soil, topography of the land, and close proximity to the Yarra River was considered desirable.³ Heidelberg Road was located to the south of the allotments and was developed along the line of an earlier track leading to Heidelberg. The road served as an early transport route for those travelling to and from Heidelberg and included sections of what is now Fairfield and Alphington.

In 1852 Alphington Village was established by William Montagu Manning (Solicitor General of Sydney) serving as a resting place for travellers. The village, located east of the subject site, included the extant former butcher shop at no. 760 constructed circa 1860.

The land boom of the 1880s saw prominent land speculators acquire large sections of land along Heidelberg Road. In 1885 land containing the subject sites was purchased by Albert Miller.⁴ Land to the south side of Heidelberg Road was subsequently divided into narrow allotments extending to the Yarra River.⁵ In 1896 land containing the subject site was transferred to Edith Maud Bancroft.⁶

In 1910 the section of land between Riverview Grove and Heidelberg Road was acquired by George Robert Bennet, James Eldridge Rowe and George Washington Whitcher, and subdivided to form the 'Alphington Park Estate.'⁷

The Estate was subdivided into '19 splendid business and villa allotments.'⁸ The allotments were roughly rectangular and included eight business allotments, each with an approximately 50-foot frontage to Heidelberg Road. Part of the subject site (no. 730) formed part of allotment 7, while the remainder of the site (nos 732 and 734) comprised allotment 8, which was slightly longer.

The following MMBW plan dated 1914 shows the buildings that had been constructed nearby in Alphington Village to the east of the subject site and prior to its development. Early houses and buildings were either timber or masonry (brick or stone), often with smaller outbuildings to the rear. Amongst the earliest buildings in Alphington were a general store with post office, butcher, Wesleyan Chapel, a bakery, and at least two hotels.⁹ A police station was located adjacent to the subject site. Residential development had occurred to the south of Alphington Village while a large majority of the street allotments along Heidelberg Road (including the subject sites) remained vacant.¹⁰

In 1916 allotment 8 (nos 732 and 734) was acquired by Thomas Trevena, tailor, which included the right of carriage way to the south of the site.¹¹ Nos 732 and 734 had been constructed by 1923.¹² Both buildings were roughly square in footprint with a chamfered corner however no. 732 included a narrow section that extended to the rear of the site.

The subject building at no. 730 had been constructed by 1924 and had a long narrow rectangular footprint with a stepped section, providing side access.¹³ All three building footprints are similar to the extant footprints on the site.

In 1924 the subject shops were occupied by various commercial businesses. Bootmaker, E J March is listed as occupying no. 730 from 1924-31 and no. 734 from 1933 until at least 1960.¹⁴ Ironmongers and estate agents appear to have occupied no. 732 in 1924 and 1925 and news agency G E A Richardson, appear to have occupied no. 734 in 1926 and 1927.¹⁵ Small commercial businesses continued to operate from the subject sites throughout the 1930s. A Nicholes, a tailor, occupied no. 732 from 1931 to 1933 and the adjacent site at no. 730 from 1935 to 1945.¹⁶

The subject buildings are evident in a 1945 aerial. A hipped gable roof as well as the canopies are evident to the front of the three buildings with narrower sections and minor structures to the rear of nos 730 and 732.

In 1948 no. 730 was transferred to Robert Dunstan McMullen, engineer and Norma Eileen Cattermole, married woman.¹⁷

In 1948 drawings for a proposed brick factory to the rear of the no. 734 were submitted to the City of the Heidelberg.¹⁸ At this time, the occupier of the building was Mr G H Bryant and the owner of the property was J P Monro.¹⁹ The factory was constructed for Goodwear Plating, an electro plating and metal polishing business, however the building no longer survives.

Circa 1968 the Alphington Post Office was relocated to no. 730.²⁰ A historic photograph dated 1968 shows the unpainted brick parapet, canopy, shopfront configuration and wall tiles.²¹ In 2010 no. 730 was subdivided into two lots, no. 730 (front shop) and no. 730A (rear lot including side access). No. 730 continues to function as a Post Office.

Thomas Duff & Bros. Pty Ltd.

Thomas Duff & Bros., was a family enterprise and one of Melbourne's well-known shopfitters, operating from circa 1910 until at least 1942.²² Duff operated from West Melbourne in the 1920s, relocating to Port Melbourne in the 1930s and North Melbourne in the early 1940s. They manufactured a variety of shop fittings including 'partitions, desks, chairs, tables, screens, showcases, shopfronts, etc.' Duff are responsible for the remodelling of the London Stores at the corner of Elizabeth and Bourke Streets, renovated at the end of the 1930s. The substantial shopfronts featured large display windows that integrated recent lighting methods.²³ Thomas Duff died in May 1921 at his residence in Carlisle Street, Balaclava.²⁴

Interwar period shops have not been well assessed across the municipality as many such buildings are located within precincts whose significance primarily relates to the late 19th century (Victorian) and possibly early 20 century (Federation) phases of development and so have tended to be graded non-contributory.

Statement of Significance

What is Significant?

The single storey brick building at 760-764 Heidelberg Road, Alphington, constructed 1922, with additions made during the late 1930s and early 1940s.

Significant aspects include the Heidelberg Road and Yarralea Street facades including brick parapet, visible gable roof sections (primarily to the east side), chamfered corner entrance, concrete lintels, pattern of openings and shopfronts, canopy, and remnant wall moulding (west end of north elevation).

How is it Significant?

The single storey building at 760-764 Heidelberg Road, Alphington – the former A. Cooper Knitting factory - is of local historical and aesthetic significance to the City of Yarra.

Why is it Significant?

Initially constructed as three premises in 1922, the single storey building at 760-764 Heidelberg Road, Alphington was expanded and later consolidated by A. Cooper Knitting Manufacturer. It is representative of the commercial and industrial development that occurred during the Interwar period along Heidelberg Road, and in particular was one of a few knitting enterprises that were established along Heidelberg Road at this time. The rapid expansion of the building during the late 1930s and early 1940s is indicative of the important role of the local knitting industry during WWII. (Criterion A)

The single storey building is aesthetically significant as an intact example of an Interwar period building constructed on a prominent corner site. The brick building is distinguished by its parapet and projecting piers articulated with a combination of smooth and roughcast render contrasting with variations in the brickwork. The original pattern of openings, shopfront division, and canopy remains mostly intact. (Criterion E)

Description

The single storey brick building is located on the corner of Heidelberg Road and Yarralea Street. The entrance is located at the chamfered north-east corner. The building consists of various roof sections indicating some staged construction on the site and typically clad with metal sheeting.

A brick parapet extends the length of the Heidelberg Road facade with a partial return to Yarralea Street and its detailing is indicative of Interwar period design. It is divided into three sections (relating to the original three premises) defined by capped brick piers. The parapet has been overpainted but the original format of contrasting materials and textures remains evident (refer historic photograph below) – red brick against grey smooth and roughcast render. The piers mostly have a smooth rendered finish with a central brick strap and the intervening areas are mostly roughcast render (the panels are fixed over) defined by a soldier brick course above (but below the rendered parapet edge) and stretcher courses below (the upper one of which is projecting). Similar detailing is evident to the lower short return on Yarralea Street however the parapet to the chamfered corner is differentiated by having a smooth rendered finish.

Heidelberg Road (north) elevation

Yarralea Street (east) elevation

The shopfronts are typical of the Interwar period and consist of a recessed entry, large shopfront windows with lower masonry stallboard, framing with highlights (often overpainted) and a cantilevered awning, whose soffit is lined with a narrow corrugated sheet metal. The outermost windows on the Heidelberg façade retain curved sections of timber mouldings (possibly original) and there is an original section of moulded tiling to the pier/wall at the west end of the façade.

Yarralea Street (east) elevation – parapet detailing

Yarralea Street (east) elevation

The Yarralea Street elevation has a much lower parapet so that the long gable roof section, clad in corrugated sheet metal, is widely visible. The brick walls in stretcher bond are painted and a concrete lintel extends above all the openings except for the vehicular entry at the southern end.

The regular pattern of openings remains intact consisting of two doorways and several windows. To the north end, there are timber windows with brick sills though at the southern end the windows have been truncated and glass bricks have been introduced. The doorways have a toplight and largely glazed timber-framed door. The extant joinery to the windows and doors are likely not original but possibly indicative of the original types.

History

The subject site formed part of Crown Portion 120, Parish of Jika Jika, comprised of 122 acres purchased by Sydney based merchant Charles William Roemer in 1840.¹ It was one of several similarly narrow allotments with frontages to the nearby creeks and the Yarra River.² The rich soil, topography of the land, and close proximity to the Yarra River was considered desirable.³ Heidelberg Road was located to the south of the allotments and was developed along the line of an earlier track leading to Heidelberg. The road served as an early transport route for those travelling to and from Heidelberg and includes sections of what is now Fairfield and Alphington.

Development along Heidelberg Road remained sparsely settled.⁴ Alphington Village was established by William Montagu Manning (Solicitor General of Sydney) who acquired Roemer's original Crown Allotment 120 in 1852 and, seeing potential for a resting place on the way to Heidelberg, subdivided the land into 130 lots of varying sizes, including provision for shops on both sides of Heidelberg Road.

From 1853, lots from the 'Alphington Estate' were offered for sale. The land was slow to sell however, with only 16 sales by the end of 1856. Amongst the earliest buildings in Alphington were a general store with post office, a bakery, and at least two hotels. The former butcher shop at 756-8 Heidelberg Road was built circa 1860 and is the oldest surviving commercial building of the original Alphington Village. The Wesleyan Chapel constructed circa 1859 on the north side of Heidelberg Road also remains.

A building had been erected on the subject site by 1887 and was acquired by storekeeper, John McKillop who continued to occupy the building until at least 1900.⁵ That same year, land to the south of Alphington Village was subdivided and advertised as Knockando Estate which comprised of '58 splendid villa sites.'⁶ The following auction notice shows the subdivision and buildings in Alphington Village about Yarralea Street. The village catered to travellers as well as local residents and consisted of several small shops including a baker, butcher, store, small cottages and residences. There was also a police station, post office, Alphington Hotel and the Wesleyan Church.

An 1887 plan provides further detail about the subject site. The Heidelberg Road frontage measured about 53.5 feet while the Yarra Street (now Yarralea Street) frontage measured 160 feet. McKillop's store is positioned at the front of the site and has an angled street façade. The extant former butcher shop is also evident.

Plan of the subject site in 1887 (Source: Certificate of Title, Vol.1886 Fol. 096)

By 1914 some of the buildings on the south side of Alphington Village had been demolished. Some buildings such as the former butcher shop remained with additional structures constructed to the rear. The earlier McKillop's store at the subject site had been demolished and replaced with several timber buildings with verandahs, fronting Heidelberg Road.⁷ Smaller timber structures were situated in the middle of the site.

Grocer, Mrs Mary Kennedy, occupied the subject site from at least 1916 to 1921 at which stage it was transferred to James Ryan, a hotelkeeper of Heidelberg Road.⁸ James Ryan, hairdresser and tobacconist, was listed at the site in 1922 (then no. 383).⁹

In September 1922, Henry Thomas Rust – a farmer residing nearby at 19 Yarra Street, Alphington – acquired the site.¹⁰ It is not certain whether Ryan or Rust redeveloped the site, but at this time the original timber structures were replaced by the front part of the extant building, which was then comprised of three sections – two small premises and a larger corner premises (refer following).

In 1923, H T Rust was identified at the site as a hairdresser and tobacconist (possibly an error) and in 1924, H T Rust was listed again as such, in addition to an adjoining unnumbered premises with a draper, John Foley. In 1925, H T Rust was identified as an estate agent at no. 381 as well as A Leithoff, hairdresser and tobacconist, and Phillip V McGavin, billiard saloon, both at no. 383.¹¹ A year prior, a billiard license had been transferred from Rust to McGavin.¹² The billiard saloon continued to operate at the site until 1931.¹³

By the early 1920s the Fairfield-Alphington region had experienced a steady increase in the number of residential and commercial buildings. The south side consisted of a combination of primarily small commercial premises, including grocers, cycle builders, a confectioner, and a bootmaker, with some residential buildings.¹⁴ During the 1920s to early 1930, other occupants at the site included a bootmaker and fruiterer.¹⁵ From about 1935 to 1965 the shop at no. 760 was leased to several boot repairers including F Fletcher from circa 1935 to 1950. The central shop at no. 762 was leased to a confectioner, Mrs D Stevens in 1938 before operating as a cake shop from circa 1942 to 1955.

In June 1938, Hilda Mary Cooper of Cedric Street, Ivanhoe acquired the site.¹⁶ From that time until circa 1970, the corner premises at no. 764 was occupied by knitted goods manufacturer, A. Cooper. For over a decade though (from 1938 to 1950) it seemed to also accommodate a hairdresser.¹⁷ In April 1939, the A T Cooper and Co P/L – 'knitting mill proprietor and manufacturers of woollen goods and warehouseman' – was established with £3000 capital. The two subscribers were Alan T Cooper, manufacturer of 16 Station Street, Aspendale and Robert N Vreland, solicitor of 430 Little Collins Street, Melbourne.¹⁸ In the 1937, Alan Theophilus Cooper had been identified as a mechanic living in Cedric Street, Ivanhoe, in the same street/at the same address as Hilda Mary.¹⁹

The late 1930s saw an increase in wool textile manufacturing in a bid to aid in Australia's war effort.²⁰ Local woollen mills intensified production to meet the demand for woollen goods such as blankets, rugs, hosiery and other knitted goods. It is not known what products the newly created company of A. Cooper sold however his business would have been impacted by the wartime demands that were placed on the textile industry. By 1940 Cooper had expanded their knitting manufacturing business and a narrow building was constructed on the south half of the site.²¹

By 1945 Cooper had further expanded, as evident in a historic aerial.²² The rear building had been extended north to form the extant gable roof on the east side of the site and a smaller building had been constructed in the south west corner of the site. The gable roof, skillion roof and street canopies of the three shops in the north part of the site are also evident.

In 1952, ownership of the site was transferred to A T Cooper & Company P/L, who retained it until 1969, when it was sold to Lawrence Valentine Rigby, used car proprietor and Doreen Muriel Rigby.²³ In 1970, A T Cooper, drapers were listed at no. 760 with TAB of Victoria at no. 762 and State Savings Bank (SSB) at no. 764. Both TAB and SSB were listed in 1974 but Cooper was not listed at no. 760.²⁴

Subsequently the three premises have been consolidated and the Heidelberg Road shopfront entrances modified. Despite changes to the original shopfronts, the division of the three premises and early timber mouldings remain. Toplights are likely concealed by extant sheeting and other early building fabric beyond this may survive.

A historic photograph dated 1982 shows the original presentation of the parapet. Render with contrasting red brick soldier course detail is evident below the parapet edge.²⁵

To date, many Interwar period factories and warehouses that have been included as an individual overlay consist of iconic landmark factories or complexes that are often built on a much larger scale than the subject building:

- Dimmeys, 140-160 Swan Street, Cremorne (HO335). The grand two storey drapery store was built in stages between 1907 and 1918 and extended in 1986. The brick building was designed in the American Romanesque style by notable architects H W & F B Tompkins and consists of large plate glass windows (that have replaced original display cases at ground floor) and a four storey clock tower surmounted by a dome.²⁶ The ground floor functions as a showroom, similar to the subject building.
- Rosella Factory Complex Precinct, 57 & 64 Balmain Street, Cremorne (HO349). The Rosella complex was designed by architect J E Burke and established in 1905 with subsequent buildings constructed during the 1920s. Elements include parapets and saw-tooth roofs, large window openings at street level (previously with multi-paned glazing) rendered concrete lintels and a combination of timber and steel-framed doors and windows.²⁷

Interwar period factories/warehouses/showrooms have also been included as individually significant or contributory buildings within precincts:

- MacRobertson Pty Ltd, confectionary works offices, former, 214 Argyle Street, Fitzroy (part of HO334 South Fitzroy Precinct). The single storey factory building was constructed in 1937 for manufacturer MacRobertson Pty. Ltd. Designed in the Moderne style the rendered façade features a banded parapet, overpainted brick work detailing and large steel framed multi-paned windows.
- London Baby Carriage Manufacturers Pty Ltd, Factory and showroom, 151-161 Bridge Road, Richmond (part of HO310 Bridge Road Precinct). The factory and showroom was built in 1941 for Hilda and Ruby Wrixon and is located on a corner site. The single storey brick building was designed in the Moderne style and features a parapet with horizontal banding which has been painted. The street façade consists of large expansive window openings.
- 33 Spensley Street, Clifton Hill (part of HO316, Clifton Hill East Heritage Overlay). Not significant. Brick factory/warehouse, now units constructed in 1925. Façade largely intact.
- Pelaco Factory (& Sign), Former, 21-31 Goodwood Street, Richmond (part of HO332C Richmond Hill Precinct). Individually significant. Large industrial complex associated with Australian shirt manufacturer, Pelaco constructed circa 1922. The utilitarian four storey brick building consists of a rendered upper floor, large steel framed windows and an early neon sign\
